Report Suspicious Activity

- Keep your car doors locked.
- Make sure your valuables are not visible inside your car.
- Lock your home including your doors and windows.
- Close your garage door, even when you are home.
- Illuminate your home. Consider motion sensor lighting around the outside of your home.
- Use timers on your interior lights to give the appearance you are home, even if you're gone.
- Keep shrubbery around your home trimmed low and trees pruned high.
- Talk to your neighbors and watch out for each other's property.
- Patio doors are often more secluded than other entry points to your home. While equipped with a lock, they can be easily pried open. Broomsticks cut to fit snug in the track and "Charlie Bars" can provide added protection. Key locking devices can also add security. Some sliding glass doors can be lifted out of their track from the outside. By installing two sheet metal screws in the track just above the removable part of the door this can be prevented.
